

For The Floor

A result of lucky Sasha Titchkosky's trip to Istanbul last year, these floor cushions and bean bags are a collaboration between Koskela and Loom Rugs. Making the most out of vintage rag and hemp rugs, which are too soft and pliable for our market (and too heavy for a blanket), Sasha has designed a range for the floor which suits our casual ways.

TideTuki

We never get tired of Tide. George Harper's furniture is manufactured here in Australia and has the attributes of the best design – simplicity backed up by super functionality. The "Tuki" range is one of his best. We particularly like the solid timber desk with its slim drawer for accessories (computers, iPads etc.) and rear drop-down doors to hide away cable routing.
